

Neb. immigrants vital to economic recovery

Published on Mon, Dec 14, 2009

A new report says immigrants in Nebraska have a buying power of nearly $3.8 billion and are integral to the state's economy as workers. The report issued Monday by the Washington-based Immigration Policy Center says those contributions and others mean Nebraska's foreign-born population will play a critical role in the state's economic recovery.

Published in the Associated Press

Source URL:

<http://www.immigrationpolicy.org/newsroom/clip/neb-immigrants-vital-economic-recovery>