

For Chesapeake immigrant in limbo, a brief reprieve

Published on Mon, Sep 03, 2012

IPC numbers were used in this Virginian-Pilot article about Maricruz Valenzuela, a Mexican-born immigrant living in Virginia:

Valenzuela is one of an estimated 20,000 to 30,000 illegal immigrants in Virginia who stand to benefit from deferred action, according to studies done by the Immigration Policy Center and the Migration Policy Institute. Nationally, 1.7 million illegal immigrants under 30 could benefit, according to the Pew Hispanic Center.

Published in the The Virginian-Pilot

Source URL:

<http://www.immigrationpolicy.org/newsroom/clip/chesapeake-immigrant-limbo-brief-reprieve>